

Downloading ebrary Books to an Android Device

Downloading books enables you to use them when you are working offline. This guide explains how to download an entire book (or document) to an Android tablet or phone. To learn about downloading parts of books or downloading to eReaders, see “Document Downloading” in ebrary help.

A. Install Adobe Digital Editions on your PC or MAC

1. Go to <http://www.adobe.com/products/digitaleditions/>
2. Follow the instructions for installation and activation
3. In order to use the software, you need to create a free Adobe Account
4. Once installed, Adobe Digital Editions will allow you to download books to your PC or Mac (however, you must follow steps B, C, and D to download books to your Android device)

B. Install the Aldiko Book Reader app on your Android device

1. Open Google Play (formerly Android Market)
2. Find the Aldiko Book Reader and install it

C. If you don't already have the Firefox app installed on your Android device:

1. Open Google Play
2. Find the Firefox and install it

D. Download the book from ebrary using your Android device

1. Using the Firefox app, go the Gumberg Library (www.duq.edu/library) and click Databases to find ebrary
2. After ebrary opens, look at the Sign In / Sign Out link on the upper right corner of the screen:
 - a. If it says “Sign In,” click the link and enter your Multipass credentials
 - b. If it says “Sign Out,” you are already signed in
3. Locate a book in ebrary
4. Tap the Download button
5. Select the option to “Download the entire document for xx days” (xx=the number of days you can “borrow” the downloaded book)
6. Tap the OK button
7. Enter your Adobe ID and Password
8. You can download up to 10 books at a time
